Animatron is a video and animation software development company that enables visual storytelling for businesses, agencies, and individuals through its video creation tools.

Founded in 2011, Animatron is headquartered in Boston, MA, with offices in the US and Europe. The company emerged as a result of an animation project assigned to the founder's 10-year-old daughter.

Now, a few years later, Animatron addresses digital marketing needs and enables brand-driven storytelling with Wave.video and Studio — products designed to create tailor-made videos with just a few clicks.
